

Public Art

Murals, Monumental
Sculpture,
& Community Projects

University of Michigan Museum of Art

What is Public Art?

Art available to the public or created through a public process. It could take the form of any media, function, or meaning.

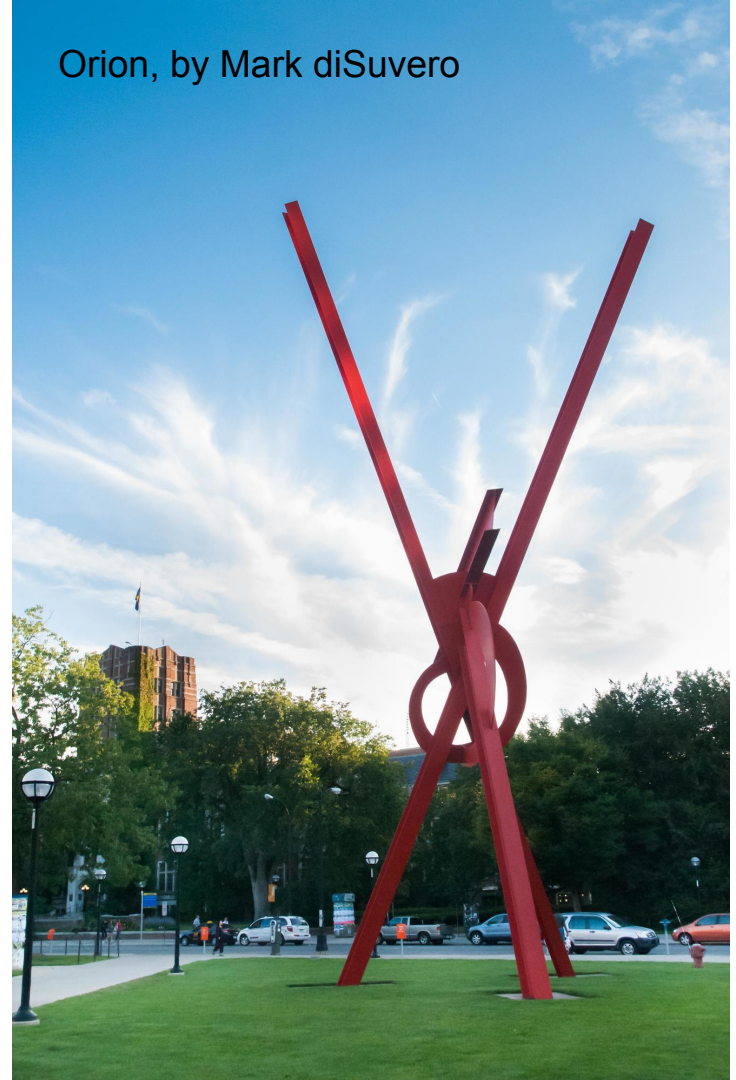

That sounds pretty broad. What could it look like?

Monumental (BIG) Sculpture

Begob, by Alexander Liberman

Orion, by Mark diSuvero

Altered Buildings or Land

Wave Field, UM North Campus, by Maya Lin

Galerie, by Christo & Jean-Claude

In-Between the World and Dreams, by Ibrahim Mahama.

Communal Projects

Merchants in Ghana sold jute bags to artist Ibrahim Mahama, who shipped them to UM Museum of Art.

Community members here stitched them together and negotiated hanging the fabric on the museum and in two other Michigan locations.

Murals

Gary Horton, Ypsilanti, MI

Pan-African Pulp, Meleko Mokgosi (UMMA)

Performances

Annual Festifools Parade
in Ann Arbor, MI

Temporary Art

Chalk Art by David Zinn, Ann Arbor, MI

